INTRODUCTION

Many unaware workers are injured and killed each year while working in confined spaces. This includes the fatalities of the stand by rescuers also. To the unsuspecting, a confined space can be more hazardous than regular workspaces for many reasons. To effectively initiate the risks associated with working in a confined space, Authorized Entrant (AE) & Stand-By Person (SP) should be implemented for your workplace.

Confined spaces can be below or above ground. Confined spaces can be found in almost any workplace. A confined space, despite its name, is not necessarily small. Examples of confined spaces include silos, vats, hoppers, utility vaults, tanks, sewers, pipes, access shafts, truck or rail tank cars, aircraft wings, boilers, manholes, manure pits and also storage bins. Ditches and trenches may also be a confined space when access or egress is limited.

Nearly all death involved in confined spaces are due to:

- Suffocation : lack of oxygen
- Poisoning : inhalation of toxic gasses
- Injuries caused by an explosion : ignition of flammable gasses
